December 2016

Dear PSA Members,

This past month we had a progressive board meeting, and a delightful general meeting. We also had a stimulating Salon at Alice's home, and an educational workshop by Stephen Wagner.

Welcome new members,

- Priscilla Pearson - ceramic
- Eugene Kuperman – oil painting
- Bart Ross - photography
- LP AEkilli Ross - digital painting
- Martin Ehrlich - ceramic
- Joanna Kos - oil / acrylic painting

Thanks to Marion Dies and the New Member Screening Jury for selecting these new members November 19th. These artists will be asked to present some of their art at the Dec 3rd meeting, and at the New Members Exhibition at the Towns Burr Gallery in Burbank in January. The Board of directors will schedule a first Board Retreat this winter, facilitated by a volunteer of Jericho Road, a non-profit group. The agenda will likely include goal setting, and organizational structure and growth. Please contact me with any ideas you have regarding these matters. The 6 Salons of 2016 gave artists (members and others) a friendly venue to get better acquainted through informal art topics, personal journeys and inspirational support. Who would like to host the Salon #7 in January?

We enjoyed a fine workshop, Nov 19th, (WHAT SELLS?) by Stephen Wagner (SFartistNetwork.org). Stephen is offering a series of professional development workshops in 2017 on a monthly basis. The charge is $20 for 2 hours, and $5 goes to PSA Scholarship Fund. Watch for the upcoming schedule.

Speaking of scholarships, we will offer another $1,000 scholarship in 2017 to a college student in Pasadena. To donate, visit our website; click on PSA Members Only/Payments/Scholarships and make your tax-deductible donation. We might have the scholarship button also under "Donate".

As your PSA president, I continue to help the organization grow with an increasing cultural diversity of members, and diversity in artistic expression, varied exhibition venues, effective community networking and more parties.

Have a wonderful holiday season,

Victor Picou
PSA President
